THE SHIRT WAIST GIRL.

When the mercury is sizzling just above the century mark.

And the prospects for a cooling rain are really very dark.

When the pavements all are scorching and the air's a seething swirl.

My soul then writhes in envy of the

Shirt

Waist

Girl.

She is cool and smart and fetching, and her looks are quite au fait.

No matter what the temperature, nor how hot is the day.

She seems, beneath her sailor hat, as dainty as a pearl.

And I wish that I could stand it like the

Shirt

Waist

Girl.

The breeze, like a sirocco, turns my collar to a rag.

And up and down my spine the perspiration drops play tag.

But she moves about serenely—e'en her hair retains its curl!

Oh, tell me how you do it, will you—

FLOTSAM—JETSAM—LIGAN!

NEWSY NOTES FROM NATURE'S GREAT HIGHWAY.

Little or no coal will leave Pittsburgh until the gauge at Davis Island Dam registers 7 feet.

The Cumberland river is very low, and so is the Tennessee, while the Wabash and Green are at rock bottom and the Ohio and Mississippi are "hard roads to travel."

Captain J. H. Barker, who was for many years a leading spirit in the old Cincinnati and Louisville United States Mail Line, and who was also the head and front of the old boatstore firm of Barker, Hart & Cook in Cincinnati before, during and since the Civil War, is now residing in Green Harbor, Mass. He is a remarkably well preserved man for his age—over 80 years.

The Ohio is the longest river bordering on Kentucky, from Pittsburgh to its mouth, at Cairo, being 1,000 miles. Its drainage area is about 210,000 square miles. The states bordering on it are said to lie in the Ohio Valley. Its highest stage was on February 14th, 1864, when it reached 71 feet 4 inches. The lowest was in September 18th, 1881, when it was 1 foot 11 inches.

The sudden fall in the Pittsburgh Harbor above Davis Island Dam late Sunday night, causing a number of coal crafts to be left on shore and the grounding of several tows, was the fault of several employees of the dam who went to sleep on watch. The needles were drawn Saturday night in anticipation of a rise, and while the men were sleeping Sunday night the river fell suddenly. Captain Martin, in charge of the dam, caused those responsible to be discharged, but owners of the craft that were affected are still kicking and busily engaged in pumping and getting coalboats and barges in shape again.

Courier Journal—Lying upon the levee just below the ferry landing is a large square block of stone that seems to have been washed up from its solid bed, and which held many a steamboat. Fastened in that stone was a large iron ringbolt, but it is gone. Forty years ago the famous sidewheel steamers Blue Wing and Sea Gull, the regular Kentucky river packets, tied their lines for years to that particular ringbolt. The Blue Wing was commanded by the veteran Captain Sam Saunders, who lives in Frankfort, and the Sea Gull was commanded by Captain Holton, who died many years ago. No sidewheel boats have run in the Kentucky river since the railroad was built, and the Blue Wing and Sea Gull were the last.

The output of coal from the mines along the Monongahela river this year may reach the enormous amount of 150,000,000 bushels. The total amount mined last year was 123,000,000 bushels for river shipment. There have been mined this year 85,000,000 bushels of coal, but the continued low water during the last three months has curtailed the output to a considerable extent, for the reason that no empties can be brought from the South to be reloaded for shipment to Southern points. The increase in the amount of river coal mined this year is attributed to the great and prosperous condition of the country. Two-thirds of the river coal is sent South. About 8,000 miners are employed to mine the coal and 5,000 rivermen are employed on steamboats, at boatyards, landings, etc., to move the coal and keep the floating stock in repair. As many of this number of men as it needs will be employed by the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company when that organization becomes operative. It will control the coal markets of the South. Such men as Captain W. W. O'Neil, Captain S. S. Crump, Captain John A. Wood and others who have developed the great coalfields of the Monongahela river.

CONFERENCE NOTES.

Use of Tobacco and Its Relations to the Ministers Fully Discussed.

Considerable of a sensation was caused at Saturday's session of Kentucky Conference of M. E. Churches, which is being held at Grace M. E. Church in Newport, when Rev. D. P. Holt of Dayton brought up the subject of Ministers chewing and smoking tobacco.

One of the rules of the Church is that Ministers must not use tobacco in any form.

The mention of the subject caused a hot discussion.

Rev. Dr. Hanford of the Main Street M. E. Church, Covington, said that he knew of at least twenty members of the Conference who used tobacco in open violation of the rule.

A still greater sensation was caused when Rev. J. T. Deal, a young Minister, arose and, quivering with suppressed excitement, stated that he used it and would plead guilty to the charge; that if the Conference did not like it he would get out. He said that he used it for medicinal purposes and he did not intend to stop.

At this point the discussion became so fierce that Bishop Fitzgerald was compelled to stop it.

In speaking of the matter later the Bishop said: "This is not a matter that requires any resolution or any other action by this Conference. The General Conference in session at Chicago next year will deal with it, and conviction is equivalent to dismissal of the Minister so offending."

The session was taken up in the election of delegates to the General Conference and the reading of reports. The balloting for delegates resulted as follows:

Delegates—Rev. C. J. Howes of Louisville and Rev. G. H. Frenger of Covington; Alternates—Rev. E. S. Shepherd of Lexington and Rev. S. Grider of College Hill.

Cleveland D. Stalley, Benton D. Morris and H. T. Stengel were admitted to Deacons and Elders orders.

The Conference will adjourn this afternoon, at which time the list of assignments will be read out.

Yesterday morning Rev. F. W. Harrop of this city preached at Muldale and in the evening occupied the pulpit of the Central Christian Church in Newport.

Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment relieves the intense itching. It soothes, heals and cures chronic cases where surgeons fail. It is no experiment. Its sales increase through its cures. Every bottle guaranteed. Price 50 cts. in bottles; tubes 75 cts. J. Jas. Wood & Son.

WE FEEL

a certain but pardonable pride in our merchandise that gives us license to say that there are few clothing houses like ours. You cannot make a mistake by buying of us.

We are more particular in selecting for our patrons than they frequently are themselves. Nothing leaves our house that does not undergo a thorough examination as to quality and fit. This is the main factor of not only retaining our large clientele, but constantly adding new customers.

Our Fall Line will surprise you. For the little ones we have secured the latest novelties in Suits, Reefers and Topcoats. Mothers, when the time comes you want to look at them. Our entire fall stock is now in the house. This includes our Men's and Boy's Shoes.
